Client

PHONE SCRIPT – Asking the Client for the Referral

Hi [Client]! How is your day going? How is [Client's Partner's Name] doing?

The reason for this call is that I wanted to touch base with you regarding the book that I mailed to you and [Client's Partners Name] several weeks ago. There's been significant demand from other clients for additional copies, so that they can hand them out to family and friends that they believe could benefit from reading this information.

As a result, I decided to circle back with all of my clients to let them know that I purchased additional copies for this reason and wanted to see if you would be interested in receiving additional copies that you can hand out as well? Great!

With everything going on with social distancing, I have been handling this a few different ways...clients have been providing me with the friend/family member's contact information so that I may mail the books directly, but I've been letting the recipient know that this gift is being directed by the client so they have some sense of where it is coming from. The second option is that I can mail them to you directly and you can distribute them accordingly. Either way is fine with me, so which way of getting them the books would you prefer?

Great! [Collect Prospect's Contact Information]
